

Mission Statement

Parental Involvement Mission Statement (Optional)

Response: Charlotte County Public Schools will foster and support a partnership among the home, school, and community to increase student success.

Involvement of Parents

Describe the actions the LEA will take to involve parents in the following required policies/plans:

- LEA-wide parental involvement policy (PIP)[Section 1118(a)(2)];
- LEA plan [Sections 1112 (c)(H), 1112(d)(1)]; -and
- How the funds reserved for parental involvement will be spent [Section 1118(a)(2)].

Response: The LEA utilizes the district's schools' PIPTs (Parent Involvement Planning Team), comprised of parents from Title I schools and representative of the school's demographics, school staff, and Title I school administrators. Additionally, district staff, the Coordinator of State and Federal Programs, the Title I Evaluator and the Family Engagement Supervisor collaborate with the PIPT's to develop, implement, support, and review the Student Success Plans, the District Parent Involvement Plan, and schools' Parent Involvement Plans. Also reviewed and revised are the Student Success Plan (SSP), which is Charlotte County's school improvement plan, as well as plans and funding related to these plans. Parents are encouraged and invited to participate in all levels of district and school planning. There is ongoing consultation with these stakeholders in all aspects of information related to schools and the district. Information is provided to the schools' PIPTs, SAC, and PTO organizations. The district provides a day in the spring for school PIPTs to meet to discuss, review, and provide input for revisions of the district PIP, including use of funds, barriers to parent involvement, best practices, and professional development opportunities regarding family engagement. As PIPT members leave the school teams new members are recruited and trained. Ongoing consultation to review the progress of the plan is held at individual schools and at the district level.

Parents are notified through the Parent Guide, school newsletters, school and district websites, school and district apps, through PTO and SAC membership, invitations, letters sent home and personal phone or face-to-face invitations from administrators and parent specialists of opportunities to participate on this and other planning committees.

Parental input regarding plans is documented through the annual Title I Parent Survey Report and the schools' PIPT PIP (Parent Involvement Plan) evaluation process.

Schools' planning committees include parents, often SAC members, administrators, staff, guidance counselor, reading coach, parent specialist and Title I Resource staff. Committee members review the school's Needs Assessment Survey, the annual Title I Parent Survey Report, the Family Reading Experience data and other data on student achievement and demographics to develop the Student Success Plan.

The Title I Resource Staff offers training for staff at each Title I school on the importance of involving parents in all levels of partnership based on Joyce Epstein's Six Keys to Parent Involvement. Several trainings, including but not limited to Creating Family Friendly Schools, Opening Doors to Family Friendly Schools, Navigating the Parent Involvement Experience, Effective Problem Solving Techniques, Using Student Data for Effective Parent Conferences, Conferencing Skills, Using Volunteers in the Classroom, and Active Parenting are offered to district staff to increase awareness and understanding on ways to support family engagement for student achievement.

Title I Resource Staff and schools provide training throughout the year to parents regarding their important role as their child's first and most important teacher, their partnership with the school, SAC membership and responsibilities, the school plans and understanding the use of data in plan development.

The LEA set-aside funds for parental involvement are used to support the district's initiative of locating a Family Center in each Title I school. These funds provide full time staff, including staff with translation skills. A Title I Para III Achievement and Family Associate (AFA) from each Title I school participates in a monthly training and PLC. The first focus for this year's PLC is technology training and using technology to reach parents. A second focus will be helping meet the needs of families with struggling students by connecting them with community resources. The third focus will be providing differentiated instructional activities for the Title I AFA's providing remediation for students. Funding is also utilized to purchase a variety of resources, including materials for literacy, math, and parent training, and supplies for parent communication. Funds also provide for a parent involvement supervisor to coordinate family engagement training and activities. Funds are used to provide registration and transportation for Title I AFA's, parents, and school staff to the "Hooked on Family Engagement to Increase Student Achievement" Conference in St. Petersburg, FL on November 6, 2015. Funds may be used for translators, child care, and transportation on an as needed basis.

Technical Assistance

Describe the actions the LEA will take to provide coordination, technical assistance, and other support necessary to assist Title I, Part A schools in planning and implementing effective parental involvement activities which build the capacity of parents to improve the academic achievement of their child and overall school performance [Section 1118(a)(2)(B and C) and 1118(e)(1-14)]. Include a description of the process the LEA will use to review the school-level PIP to ensure compliance with all requirements of Section 1118 [34 CFR 200.30(e)]. Include information on how the LEA will provide other reasonable support for parental involvement activities under Section 1118 as parents may request [Section 1118(e)(14)].

Response: The LEA will provide coordination, technical assistance and other support to assist Title I, Part A schools in planning and implementing effective parental involvement programs to improve student achievement and school performance in the following ways:

- The Title I Staff will provide technical assistance to all Title I schools in May to review the Title I, Part A requirements for parental involvement as it relates to increasing student achievement, including best practices.
- Title I Resource provides each school with a jump drive containing the following files:

DOE PIP school template, Title I requirements, sample letters to parents, Title I Annual Meeting Toolkit from DOE, parent involvement strategies to increase student achievement, and other resources.

- Title I schools posted the call for stakeholders for parent involvement and formed a Parent Involvement Planning Team (PIPT) which may include two parents, two teachers, a guidance counselor, a lead teacher, the school parent involvement paraprofessional, a community partner, and an administrator. On May 1, 2015 each school's PIPT attended an all-day district Title I PIPT training covering the following topics: six types of parental involvement and their benefits; the "Good Parent Strategies-Setting the GPS for a New Generation of Parents", website resources for parents, using technology to reach families, strategies for working with ELL families, using data to develop action strategies, overall most effective practices; review of SY14-15 school compact and school and district PIP, funds availability and usage, and time for action plan development. Barriers, research-based best practices, current data and SY14-15 plan review/evaluation/revision were used to develop goals and strategies for SY15-16. Subgroups were assigned and are responsible for a goal and implementing corresponding strategies. The school level PIPT will meet monthly or quarterly to review, revise and evaluate plan strategies. The PIPT will garner support from stakeholders to implement strategies. In the fall the SAC will review the PIP and offer suggestions. The PIPT will then approve the PIP. As members leave the committee, they will be replaced and trained.

- Title I schools receive a Title I Parent Involvement notebook with technical assistance materials including timelines, forms, and strategies for engaging parents in their child's education.

- The Parent Involvement Supervisor will review each school's Parent Involvement Plan to ensure compliance and to ensure all strategies enhance student achievement. Plans are due for yearly review by September 1, 2015.

- Principals will receive parental involvement resources and information at quarterly Title I principal meetings for school newsletters and websites.

- Title I Resource staff provides Title I schools with monthly "Family Activity Calendars" for families with Pre-K through and elementary age students in both English and Spanish.

- Title I Resource Staff will present, as requested by individual Title I schools, to Title I school's faculty to inform staff on the requirements of the Title I law, share the benefits of parental involvement, and/or strategies to build the home-school relationship to support student achievement.

- Title I Parent Involvement Supervisor meets monthly with designated parent involvement staff from all Title I schools to share strategies, provide training, and review data on parent participation. The monthly meeting and PLC will focus on strategies for increasing family engagement to support student success. This year's PLC focus is three-fold: (1) technology training to enhance skills for reaching families using technology; (2) using community resources to support struggling families; (3) using differentiated instructional activities for small group remediation.

- Title I Resource Staff provides technical assistance and resources to support implementation of parent workshops, trainings and outreach efforts including, but not limited to "MAPPS", "Helping Your Child with Homework", "Reading Together with Your Child", "Helping Your Child Become a Better Reader", "Increasing Critical Thinking Skills", "FSA Information for Families", "Making a Positive Difference Through Organizational Strategies", the "Parent Power Hour", "Active Parenting", "Fun Family Math Games", "Turn Off the Screen and Turn On Your World" and English grammar classes for ELL families.

- Each Title I school keeps an excel file with all events involving parents and families. This is reviewed twice a year by the Family Engagement Supervisor.

- The Parent Involvement Supervisor provides a power point training, "Your Important Role as a Parent," during SAC Committee Meetings.

- The Parent Involvement Supervisor offers several trainings to school and district personnel on the benefits of parent involvement including, but not limited to "Parent Involvement to Increase Student Achievement", "Conferencing Skills", "Navigating the Parent Involvement Experience", "Creating Family Friendly Schools", and "Opening Doors to Family Friendly Schools", "Using Student Data for Effective Conferences", "Effective Problem Solving Conferences", "Using Volunteers in the Classroom", and "Active Parenting".

Response: The Title I Resource Staff provides a day long training with all School PIPTs in May for review and revision of schools' and the district's PIP, and the school compact. Working as teams, the PIPTs complete an activity requiring their input for the LEA PIP on "Ways parents can help their child raise their academic achievement," "Ideas for educating school staff on parental involvement," "Why parents are not involved," "The most effective strategy for family engagement, according to you." In September the district PIP will be sent to schools' PIPT and SAC to review, revise and approve the plan that was developed during the May meeting. In January the LEA plan will be reviewed by schools' PIPT and SAC regarding the progress of the implementation of the plan. In May of 2016 the LEA PIP will be reviewed during the annual PIPT training day. The Title I Parent Survey Report (developed, distributed to a random sampling of 200 parents at each Title I elementary school, and 300 parents at the Title I middle school is analyzed, and summarized by the Title I Evaluator with the results disseminated and discussed with the Title I schools' PIPT) will be reviewed along with the district data and the PIP evaluation questions, including barriers to and best practices of parental involvement, as they consider revisions for the next year's LEA PIP. Future parental involvement initiatives will be discussed and included in the new PIP.
